PRAYERS, according to the order of Morning Worship.

Almighty and eternal God, the Giver of life and light to all Thy creatures, we thank Thee for Thy care, for the rest of the night, and for the freshness and gladness of the morning.

Thou hast renewed all nature. We beseech Thee, renew our spirits this day that we may serve Thee with joy. Guide us in all our thots and actions. Brighten both heart and home with Thy smile. Make us Christlike in our temper and ways, gentle, considerate, unselfish. Keep us from fickleness and fretting.

God of our strength, be with those of us who go forth to the toil and anxieties of life. Make us faithful and diligent in the discharge of every duty. Deliver us from the temptations that will meet us, and from the evil passions that are within us. Keep us from cherishing resentment or bitter feeling against our fellows, even when they wrong us. Deliver us from self-righteousness and censoriousness. May we ever judge ourselves with strictness and our neighbors with charity.

Gracious Father who hast given us home and health, we pray Thee to comfort the homeless, the poor, the sick, and the sad. Bless our ~~hospitals~~ institutions and ~~refuges~~ for the suffering and the erring. Guide and strengthen physicians and nurses in their work of helpful kindness and love. The children of our homes do Thou greatly bless. May they grow up to be consecrated men and women. Help them in their study and their play. Let Thy blessing rest on our svhools and our colleges, and may all instructors of youth honor Thy name. Help us all to bear one another's burdens. Deepen in us the ~~feeling~~ sense that life is a trust to be used for Thee.

Help our President and those with him in authority over us to guide the affairs of state wisely and well. Bless our United States and make us good and loyal citizens. May the governments of the world more fully recognize and obey the constitution of Thy Kingdom of righteousness and love, and to this end may the Church of Jesus Christ on earth serve Thee faithfully. Amen.
